ITALIAN WINES (FROM DIFFERENT REGIONS)

SPARKLING

Prosecco, Extra Dry Vigna Nuova (VENETO)
Prosecco is a lightly & gentle sparkling wine made from Glera grape.

8/40

Moscato d'Asti Sant'Orsola (PIEDMONT)
Aromatic, with fragrances of lychee, peach and jasmine,
sweet taste protracted in a good acidity.

39

WHITES

Pinot Grigio Feudo di Morro
Pinot Grigio grape produces medium bodied wines with a slight yeasty aroma, often pale in Colour with a high acidity & concentrated fruity flavours.
It is light, crispy, very easy drinking wine,
aromatic & well rounded on the palate.

7.5/36

Vermentino di Gallura Aijia (SARDINIA)
The Very Best Vermentino is produced in the only Italy's Docg area, around Gallura, a small Town in the north of Sardinia, while other Vermentino are grown all over Sardinia and other regions. It is a fresh wine, yet rich & luscious on the palate with a long lasting finish.

53

Pecorino (FEUDO MORRO)

Pecorino is a white grape variety likely native to Marche, but grows also in other region, mainly in Abruzzo.
Its depth surpasses that of Trebbiano.

Clean and fresh styles with gentle minerality and aromatic complexities, suggest that careful viticulture at cool temperatures does direct this versatile variety to be enjoyed with a large number of seafood dishes.

7.9/38

Soave Classico (POESIE)

This elegant Soave Classico is made from hand harvested
Garganega grape, gently-pressed in the small village of Soave, near the history of the medieval fortress.

Brilliant straw yellow colour wine, dry with delicate aroma & intense flavors it matches perfectly with appetizers,
soups, pasta, seafood and white meat dishes.

45

REDS

Chianti Riello delle Balze (TUSCANY)

Chianti is perhaps the most commonly known Italian wine in the world. Its history warrants it. Chianti region has a strong legacy in vine growing and wine making for nearly 3000 years. Made mainly by Sangiovese, purple red in colour, with delicious cherry flavours medium strength, versatile wine, enjoyable at length partnering well & with most dishes and Not overpowering them.

Montepulciano d'Abruzzo Feudo di Morro
(ABRUZZI)

One of the largest variety grown in few regions, it is perhaps the most popular everyday drinking wine in Italy.

Low acidity. with mid-tannin rich on the palate, slightly tannic, long finish.

7.5/36

Sangiovese di Romagna Crete di Lamone
(EMILIA ROMAGNA)

Typical example of Sangiovese di Romagna, a lighter variety than the Tuscan. Cherry like aromas with a light to medium intensity of colour, medium acidity, gentle tannin.

Another versatile wine, enjoyable with most dishes including some rich flavor seafood.

7.9/38

Cannonau Vigna di Isalle
(SARDINIA)

Cannonau is a grape variety, grown in Sardinia.

These wines tend to be mid-high in alcohol, rich on the palate, full bodied, usually a long lasting tannin effect.

"Capoferrato" produce, in Castiadane near Cagliari, and Oliena are the most respected.

57

Nero d'Avola Caporosso (SICILY)

Nero D'Avola is a high quality variety grown mainly in Sicily. Deep color, full-bodied, yet mild on palate, hearty, heady flavors of ripe fruit and aromatic herbs, rich tannin yet velvety.

52

Primitivo (APULIA)

Primitivo is a grape grown in large quantities mainly in Apulia' making a unique wine typical of this region. Usually approx 13.5% alc or more. Big, rich wine.

Robust yet pleasant with medium tannin
& a long lasting palate.

Enjoy it more with rich dishes or aged cheese.

9/44

Frappato
(CANTINE GRASSO)

Intense Ruby red with purple nuances.

The aroma has well defined fruity notes with a fusion of spices, complex with mouth filling scents, well balanced acidity on the palate with soft hearty flavors, yet rich with long lasting senses. Enjoy preferably with starters, pasta, white meats aged cheese.

Also recommended with some rich seafood.

VINTAGE CELLAR

2006 Taurasi Riserva Antica Hirpinia (CAMPANIA)

Taurasi sits with the best. It is a magnificent wine, dark red in colour. Mainly made with 100% Aglianico grape around "Taurasi" an area south west of Naples. Taurasi must age 3 years with a min 12 months in wood before released and the Riserva for 4 year. Rich and robust, full bodied, powerful on the palate with big tannins and a long lasting finish.

To fully enjoy this wine it must be decanted.

2005 Adeo "Bolgheri" Supertuscan Campo alla Sughera (TUSCANY)

Bolgheri is a great wine producing area positioned on Tuscany's Tirrenian Sea, on similar environment of famous Bordeaux wines. It is the area of World acclaimed Great wines Guado de' Gemoli & Masseto (both reaching max 100 points out of 100 given by Wine Spectator & Robert Parker). Plus Sassicaia, Ornellaia, and others. Rich, robust yet well balanced, long & pleasant finish, softened tannins while evolving in bottle. To fully enjoy this wine it must be decanted.

89

Ripasso Valpolicella (VENETO)

Great Red Wine obtained mainly by Corvina, Rondinella & Molinara grapes with a first fermentation made in autumn soon after the harvest. At the beginning of spring it is re-fermented (ri-passato) on the Amarone skins still soaked in wine. It is then rested in Slavonian oak barrels followed by bottle ageing.

This process gives the wine a greater structure, complexity, intense peppery notes, elegant aromas and deeper colour. Ideal with meat dishes and mature cheese. A wine with Amarone taste, but at a lower price.

Chianti Classico Riserva DOCG (TUSCANY)

Chianti the name of a famous world wide, versatile wine, limpid and purple red in colour, with delicious cherry flavours, produced in different areas of Tuscany comprising several provinces but more famous is the "Chianti Classico" in the heart of Tuscany (just 6 small communes south of Florence).

Usually more structured wines and must be kept ageing for at least 15 months before released.

The "Riserva" is again a Superior quality and must be aged a further 12 months. All 'Chianti' are made by Sangiovese grape min 75% (and up to 100%) with small amount of other indigenous grapes.

Matches well with red meats and/ rich dishes.

Mamertino Feudo Solaria (VENETO)

Is the Longest recorded wine in History, as Julius Ceaser and the Roman Aristocracy used to enjoy this stile of wine over 2000 years ago, made by the indigenou grape varieties Nero d'Avola and Nocera that still now days grow in the area of Milazzo (Messina).

Ruby Red in colour, rich bouquet with unusual aromas of the Nocera are evident on the nose, the tannin is medium and confirms it's elegance & complexity with a long lasting finish. You can match this wine with various elaborated dishes with red meat, pork, lamb, but also with some rich seafood dishes.

Amarone cent'anni (VENETO)

Amarone one of the 3 Most Famous Italian Wines in the World. It is made in small quantities in the same area and by the same grapes (Corvina, Rondinella and Molinara) used for Valpolicella and Ripasso, but with a much higher, sophisticated and time consuming tecnic, applied to create this highly sought wine. Amarone has an astonishingly complex nose; Warm, vinious, with stewed cherries, licorice, and a host of other magic flavours. Captivating and marvellous on the palate, the wine is lush with intense fruit flavours and a hint of spices. The tannins are velvety and the finish amazingly persistent; Usually high in alcohol.
